Arigato Eat a piece for peace

Nigiri-zushi (hand-formed sushi). Nigiri consists of an oblong mound of sushi rice which is pressed between the palms of the hands, often with a speck of wasabi (though not by us currently) and a thin slice of a topping (neta) draped over it, possibly tied up with a thin band of nori. Assembling nigirizushi is surprisingly difficult to do well. It is sometimes called Edomaezushi, which reflects its origins in Edo
